

How can you reduce irrigation in order to conserve water and save on your water rates?

One tip is to carefully consider what you plant. At Lawson Gardens we have a xeriscape garden that features a wide variety of drought tolerant plants that thrive in our region. Just follow the path up the hill at the west end of the Lawson Garden parking lot to discover how you can obtain a lush ground cover without consuming large amounts of irrigation water.

View a list of plants appropriate for xeriscaping. Xeriscape Brochure: PDF